

Trail information

We have a variety of trails to offer here at Glencoe and the surrounding areas. Using our chair lift you are able to access our red and black downhill tracks for some rocky challenging descents. But if DH laps aren't your thing, then why not check out our cross country loops for a mix of fire road climbs and natural mountain biking on marked trails with some stunning views.

Nae Danger - Blue XC

Starts with a land rover track climb up to the winter cafe and then drops down onto single track across the plateau and finishing off at the bottom of the Craig Dhubh path. Expect small climbs and short bursts of descents making this a great beginner trail. Nae Danger! 1.5km long and gains 40m

Epic Glades - Red XC

Again, this starts with the climb to the winter cafe and then continues up to gain an additional 140m. This 4km track has it all, epic views, fast single track descents and rocky technical sections. Something to test you.

Loop de Dhubh - Black XC

The black is a 1km split off from Epic Glades taking you to the summit of Creag Dhubh at 746m. It includes an open mountain climb with lots of line choices before descending down the steep, loose and rocky walkers path for a technical ride down...not for the faint hearted.

Red DH

Expect back to back berms, bumps, jumps and a little tech to keep you on your toes. 3 sections are currently open which join onto and are linked up by the road. (Features are rollable/have ride-arounds)

Black DH

Glencoe's infamous Black DH will give you a steep technical descent winding it's way down the front face of the mountain. Expect drops, rocks and plenty of gnar.
